The dark shadow of Chappaquiddick continues to haunt Sen. Edward M. Kennedy. The parents of Mary Jo Kopechne say they are so angerf ul over the way they can accept Kennedy's version of their daughter's death. Kennedy, who recently has been observed in the steady company of a shapely blonde, identified as P age Lee H offy, contends the death of Miss K opechne was accidental. However, sev­ eral eye witnessess to events surrounding her accidental death claim she was pushed into the water. The dark shadow of Chap­ paquiddick continues to haunt Sen. Edward M. Kennedy. The parents of Mary Jo Kopechne say they are so ang erf ul over the way they can accept Kennedy's version of their daughter's death. Kennedy, who recently has been observed in the steady company of a shapely blonde, identified as Page Lee H o ffy, contends the death of Miss K opechne was accidental. However, several eyewitnesses to events surrounding her accidental death claim she was pushed into the water. The dark shadow of Chappaquiddick continues to haunt Sen. Edward M. Kennedy. The parents of Mary Jo Kopechne say they are so angry over the way they can accept Kennedy's version of their daughter's death. Kennedy, who recently has been observed in the steady company of a shapely blonde, identified as Page Lee H offy, contends the death of Miss K opechne was accidental. However, several eyewitnesses to events surrounding her accidental death claim she was pushed into the water. The dark shadow of Chappaquiddick continues to haunt Sen. Edward M. Kennedy. The parents of Mary Jo Kopechne say they are so angry over the way they can accept Kennedy's version of their daughter's death. Kennedy, who recently has been observed in the steady company of a shapely blonde, identified as Page Lee H offy, contends the death of Miss K opechne was accidental. However, several eyewitnesses to events surrounding her accidental death claim she was pushed into the water.