We remained great our First the form of a letter written by Prof. of this efty. The between Confederate and federa , 1863. and is a has forces just before the battle of -mands the former to his father, April 11 history of the first Mississippi cav. Thirty-five alry college. the battle in which doulJUess ilutU ybli 1!&Il hear I. Franklin we ' martv'towards Franklin . There rounds of B~ing At the outbreak of the Civil f'tankHn. There "Deal' Deupree. Two mingham. and was given his diplomf fJils polnt, one Dian outposts. Within two months of his graduatior number were pres of Howard College. Marion.Ala that they ned precipitately. "Orders came to move to the right side, if possible, to turn the enemy 'sath and thus dispose. "We had gone one-fourth of a mile the major part moving farther sent from the army, General Van Dorn, about as ours; Hudson's horses killed. Latt's and was merely "turned tail" and moved if capture. "At this time, General V. Van Dorn, intimated by his own general and General school's escort, appeared on the title. Our regiment was here and; the major part moving farther. In the field. In what manner of putting the enemy, supposed to be in rear. The Federals, concealed by a slight elevation of ground. Aware! were 75 yards in the line and 40 yards in the Okolona, Mississ. and in the later years was prof- ession, in Mississipp. college. He also delivered the class oration. For a number of years Prof. De procall the graduating class of Fe- Female Seminary, Okolona, Mississ, and in the later years was prof- of mathematics in Mississipp. field of the three com- mander of the regiment, companies D, I, and C, led by Col. Pinson in arsen, charged across an open field. the old town, after crossing the pike. when we were halted and for any charge. We charged desperately, but the result was as before. Pinson dispatched to Van Dorn had it was instantaneous, when we are un- dered, to dislodge the enemy, and received this reply, which I know to be true, as Lane Thompson and this city. was the car- street. this city. was the battle of Franklin, we discovered a small force of hostile cavalry strongly posted on Wilson Hills. We advanced on them at a gallop, without firing, or being fired on. We pursued closely till within half a mile of the Federal picket line, we rallied, sup- ported by two or more other companies of infantry, and checked our further ad- vance in that direction. Taylor's company and one wounded in Craven's. Col. Pinson, seeing the strength of their position, and not be- ing able to learn their exact num- bers, concealed as they were behind the house of the latter, immediately dis- patched a courier to the state the facts to the general and to demand rein- forcement. "Orders came to move to the right side, if possible, to turn the enemy's 'back and thus dispose. "We had gone one-fourth of a mile the major part moving farther. In the field. In what manner of putting the enemy, supposed to be in rear. The Federals, concealed by a slight elevation of ground. Aware! were 75 yards in the line and 40 yards in the Okolona, Mississ. and in the later years was prof- of mathematics in Mississipp. field of the three com- mander of the regiment, companies D, I, and C, led by Col. Pinson in arsen, charged across an open field. the old town, after crossing the pike. when we were halted and for any charge. We charged desperately, but the result was as before. Pinson dispatched to Van Dorn had it was instantaneous, when we are un- dered, to dislodge the enemy, and received this reply, which I know to be true, as Lane Thompson and this city. was the car- street. this city. was the battle of Franklin, we discovered a small force of hostile cavalry strongly posted on Wilson Hills. We advanced on them at a gallop, without firing, or being fired on. We pursued closely till within half a mile of the Federal picket line, we rallied, sup- ported by two or more other companies of infantry, and checked our further ad- vance in that direction. Taylor's company and one wounded in Craven's. Col. Pinson, seeing the