ise of new horizons in the future, there was a moment of pensiveness. Said Dr. Jones, "If I had to live my life over again, I would choose to do just what I have done"... And it was done well because he worked as if it all depended upon him and he prayed as if it all depended upon God. He didn’t let God down and God held high his hands of service.

* * * * *

Said Dr. Jones, "If I had to live my life over again, I would choose to do just what I have done"

...And it was done well because he worked as if it all depended upon him and he prayed as if it all depended upon God. He didn’t let God down and God held high his hands of service.

* * * * *

A slab of marble should be placed on the Piney Woods campus and this should be inscribed upon it:

"Some men so live that they lift their age so that all men walk on higher ground." ... Above the inscription should be chiseled "Laurence Clifton Jones."

Reprinted From
"High Lights in Headlines,"
Front Page Column of McComb, (Miss.) Enterprise-Journal

By J. O. EMMERICH, Editor and Publisher

Under A Cedar Tree
At Piney Woods

When a newspaperman experiences something and wishes all the while that he had a typewriter before him so that he could be hammering out his impressions—well, whatever the experience is, it clicks. Thus it was with this writer yesterday when he visited Piney Woods school.

* * * * *

This story starts under a cedar tree over a century old, and near a spring of cool running water in front of an old log cabin which was one of the "goat castles" of an earlier Mississippi. This picturesque spot is now a part of the modern day Piney Woods school, and here as a young Iowa State University graduate (Iowa City) Dr. Laurence Jones drank from this spring and sat under this tree and read... and dreamed.