When the Autumn Leaves Begin to Fall

Lyric by NEVILLE FLEESON

Music by ALBERT VON TILZER

REFRAIN (With feeling)

I'll come back when the leaves begin to fall
To the one that I love the best of all

Your voice I hear.

Whispering, "Dear, When you're away every day's a year"

Oh! how brightly the autumn sun will shine
On the day I make you

CHORUS

Oh! Gee, say gee, you ought to see my Gee, Gee, From the Fiji Isle.
Gosh, Gee, say Gee, you ought to be with Gee Gee.
She can make you smile.
Rings inside her nose.

Oh! Gee, say Gee, you ought to see...
Bells upon her toes, And I'm here to tell you that she's some high kicker,

Her kick is like the kick in home made liquor, She's got a jingo as funny as By jingo, you know what I mean, And she don't twister much better than her sister, Silly Chili Bean

Over here, over there, she's a little bit bare, So she wears a lot of leaves to protect her from the air

Oh Gee, say gee, you ought to see my Gee Gee, From the Fi-jee Isle.

I Used To Love You But
It's All Over Now

Chorus: [MUSIC NOTATION]
I used to love you, but it's all over.
Now, you know it's all over now.
That love is gone.
You can't get it back.
